

As part of the RELANZA Project, Universidad Internacional de La Rioja, S.A. (hereinafter referred to as “UNIR”) wishes to inform you that our websites use both first-party and third-party cookies to measure and analyse user browsing behaviour. By using our websites, you agree to the use of cookies in accordance with the terms of this Policy.

What are cookies?

When browsing the internet, certain residual elements may be stored on your device, such as temporary files or cookies. Each cookie is unique to your web browser and contains anonymous information such as an identifier, the name of the website, and a combination of numbers and characters.

This information is not provided directly by the user but is collected automatically to support and enhance your visit to the website.

Cookies are designed to improve your browsing experience by allowing the website to remember you on future visits, store your preferences, or enable a faster, smoother, and more efficient browsing session.

What Types of Cookies Does This Website Use?

Below you will find detailed information about the cookies used on our website. This includes their ownership, type, purpose, and duration:

Cookie	Domain	Description	Duration	Type
WordPress Session	www.relanza.net	First-party technical cookie used for session management, preferences, and security.	Session	Technical

Processing of personal data

When accessing the website, a cookie banner will be displayed informing users of the use of cookies. If cookies used are not technical or strictly necessary for the functioning of the website, user consent will be required prior to their installation.

Through the banner, you will have the option to accept, reject, or customise the use of cookies according to your preferences.

Withdrawing consent and deleting cookies

You may, at any time, disable or delete cookies already installed by configuring your browser settings on your device or terminal. Below are links to guidance pages for cookie management in the most commonly used web browsers:

- Cookie settings for Google Chrome
- Cookie settings for Mozilla Firefox
- Cookie settings for Internet Explorer
- Cookie settings for Safari

Cookie Duration

Depending on the length of time cookies remain active on a user's device, we distinguish between two types:

- Session cookies: These cookies are designed to collect and store data while the user accesses a website. They are used to retain information solely for the duration of the requested service, during a single browsing session.
- Persistent cookies: These cookies store data on the user's device and can be accessed and processed for a period defined by the cookie's controller. This period may range from a few minutes to several years.

To check the duration of cookies installed on your device, you can use your browser's developer tools. To do this, right-click anywhere on the webpage and select "Inspect". A new window or split screen will appear. In the "Storage" section (or "Application – Storage"), you can view detailed information about the cookies stored, including their expiry date and duration.

Further Information

UNIR may update or modify this Cookie Policy due to legal or regulatory requirements, or in order to align with guidelines issued by the Spanish Data Protection Agency (AEPD). For this reason, users are advised to check this page regularly to stay informed of any changes.

Please note that the information regarding the cookies used on this website is reviewed and updated on a monthly basis.
